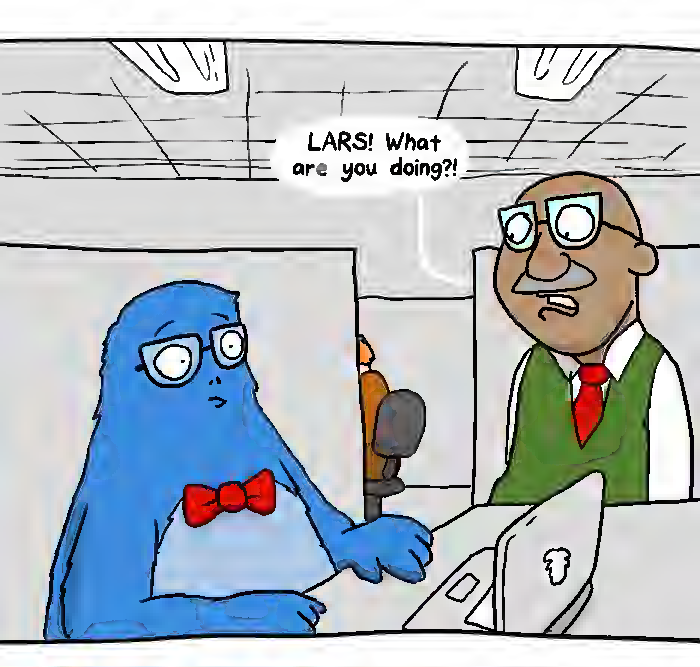
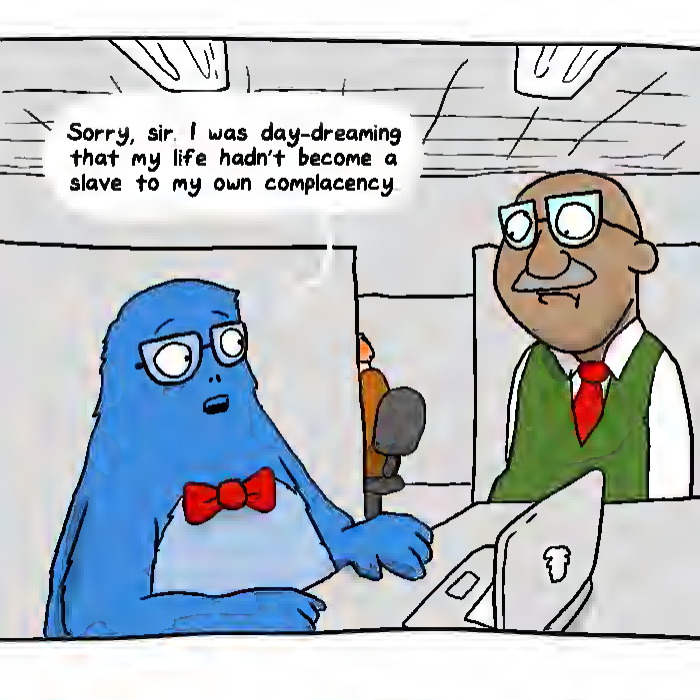
Lars

LARS?
LARS!

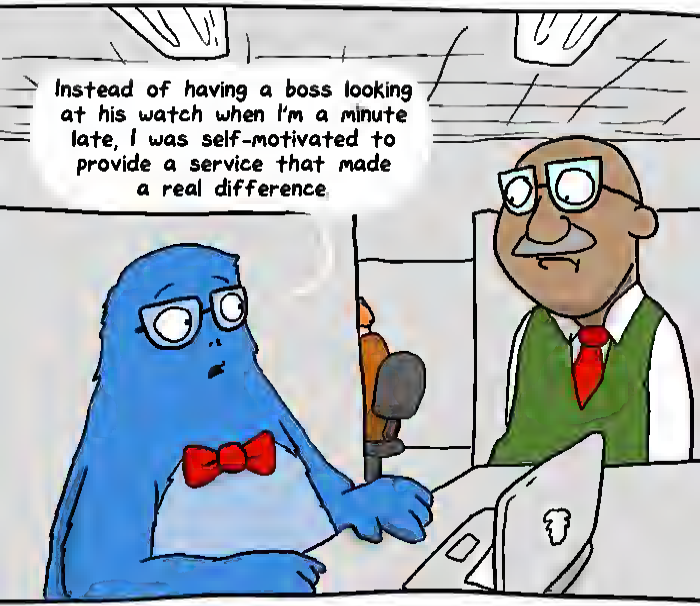


LARS! What are you doing?!

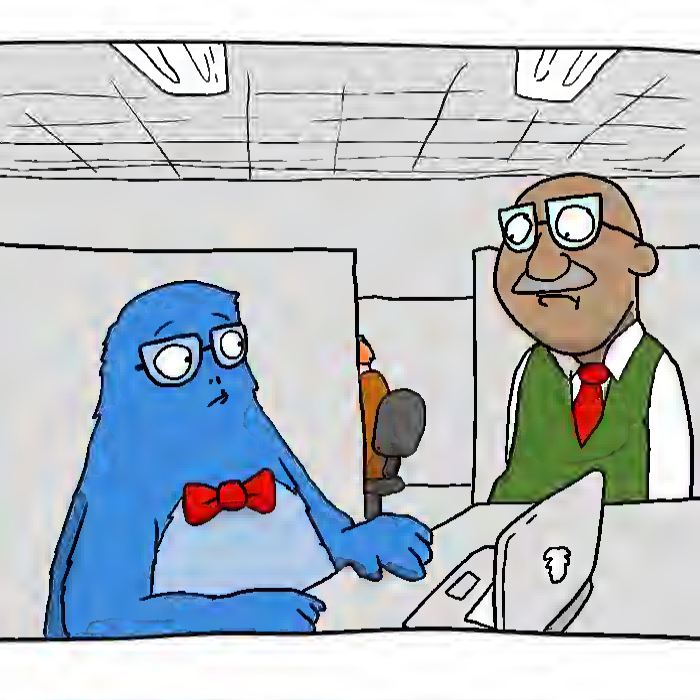


Sorry, sir. I was day-dreaming that my life hadn't become a slave to my own complacency

That I determined my own success and fulfillment instead of living every day to pursue the aspirations of a rich, out-of-touch CEO



Instead of having a boss looking at his watch when I'm a minute late, I was self-motivated to provide a service that made a real difference



I mean I was thinking about synergy.
Keep up the good work.
